

IAN ANDERSON

Born in 1893 in Dunfermline, Scotland. Brought up in Edinburgh and Blackpool where he ran away from Grammer school to become an art student. Was refused entry to the Police Force through being a suspicious character; so decided to be a Rock Star instead. Has never quite recovered from actually being one but manages to cover this astonishment by leading a fairly secluded life between his homes in the Scottish Highlands and Buckinghamshire.

Is actively engaged in aquaculture and has a number of nefarious business pursuits by way of diversion.

Can sometimes appear remote and pre-occupied but is actually not too bad as Headmasters go.

He fishes, shoots and rides competition trials motorcycles and is often seen furtively hanging around the Snipe bog.

He is married to Shona and they have two children, James and Gael.

